

Race #2 – Sunny Isles Beach Florida – June 10 – 13, 2010

This will be the third year that Sunny Isles Beach has put on a Powerboat Race in conjunction with the Bimini Ocean Challenge, a timed run to Bimini and Back. This race site has the Miami vibe on steroids, from beautiful emerald green water to evening concerts and bikini contests. This might just become your all time favorite race site. Do not miss being a part of this incredible event and bring your whole family for this one.

Sunny Isles Beach is located between Miami and Ft Lauderdale, with the south end of the city connecting with Haulover Park (Dry Pits) and Haulover Inlet. Fly into Ft Lauderdale or Miami, it's the same distance to SIB.

All OPA boats are invited to participate in the run to Bimini Ocean Challenge on Saturday. There is a onetime fee of $1000 per boat to offset the helicopter/airplane/boat safety support expenses associated with this event. The run to Bimini Ocean Challenge is held on Saturday Morning and it's almost exactly 100 miles round trip. OPA testing will be on Saturday afternoon. Here's the information about hotels and the schedule of events.
